Letter from the Executive Director

I begin by expressing my gratitude to the Town of Huntington, Suffolk County and New York State for their continued support of the Huntington Summer Arts Festival and other programs at Huntington Arts Council. We are truly fortunate to live in an area that recognizes the importance of the arts in our daily lives as well as the strong economic impact the arts have on a community. While the fate of the NEA is at stake, Huntington continues to keep the arts a vital part of its community fabric. Kudos to our elected officials, town, county and state, that help make this all happen. At Huntington Arts Council, every individual member and funder becomes increasingly valuable in times of uncertainty. Thank you all for your continued support.

Some people see summer as a time of vacations. At Huntington Arts Council, there never seems to be a vacation from the arts. The Huntington Summer Arts Festival offers 42 evenings of performances with something for everyone. Please look at the schedule and plan to attend as many evenings as you can. There are also a variety of performances all over Long Island that receive funding from our Grants for the Arts program.

Our Exhibition Program features several different shows in our Main Street Gallery, with some crossover between programs. Our juried shows offer artists the opportunity to create works; one show, Portrait of an Artist curated by Dan Chrisoffel, asks artists for a self-portrait or a portrait of an artist who has been an inspiration. This is an opportunity to mix the visual and performing arts, and tie in with the Huntington Summer Arts Festival. Additionally, HAC is trying some crossover evenings at the festival, two evenings for photographers and two evenings for painters- Picture This: Where Performing and Visual Arts Meet. (see page 6). The visual and performing arts will blend together, celebrating what Huntington Arts Council is all about.

Our Journey Program winds down during the summer with the close of the school year. Plans are already under way for the Fall when the program revives, including our teaching training workshops, now CTLE certified by NYS Education Department. The Journey program, founded in 1985 by Sandy Chapin, continues to work as a cultural partner with 7 districts, helping to integrate arts learning into what students are learning in other content areas.

I encourage everyone to continue to participate in the arts. The Summer Calendar is full, and offers excellent opportunities to celebrate the arts on Long Island. See some of the marvelous performances; visit a museum or gallery; create something! The arts enrich our lives...please let them enrich yours.

Letter From The Supervisor

Supervisor Frank P. Petrone

Dear Friends:

Summer is always a season full of arts and cultural activities and the Town of Huntington helps to ensure that there are many free and low-cost opportunities for entertainment and cultural enrichment close to home. We're certain that you won't be disappointed with what Huntington has to offer.

A perennial favorite is Huntington's Summer Arts Festival, now in its 52nd year. Performances are scheduled every Tuesday through Sunday evening from June 27 through August 13 on Heckscher Park's Chapin Rainbow Stage, with additional Thursday evening concerts by the Northport Community Band at the Robert W. Krueger Bandstand in Village Park in Northport. I am really excited about the roster of top-notch jazz performers featured during "Huntington Jazz Week" (July 18-23), including Chieli Minucci & Special EFX, Kenny Garrett and Brandee Younger, and Turtle Island Quartet & Cyrus Chestnut ("Jelly, Rags & Monk"). Look for other jazz-related activities on July 22 to be scheduled in collaboration with Friends of the Coltrane Home.

In addition to the Summer Arts Festival's regular "Family Night" performances on Tuesdays, another cultural program much-beloved by families is the free "Movies on the Lawn" series established at the initiative of Councilman Mark Cuthbertson. A complete listing of the dates, locations, and scheduled movies can be found in this newspaper or by calling Councilman Cuthbertson at 631-351-3112.

Also not to be missed this summer are some terrific exhibitions with a focus on nature offered by The Heckscher Museum of Art along with diverse related programs and events for adults, families, and children. In particular I invite you to join the free family arts festival, Draw Out!, which takes place on September 24th both in the Museum and outdoors in Heckscher Park. Check the listings in this newspaper or visit www.Heckscher.org for more information.

These are highlights of just a few of the most popular offerings. For additional listings of diverse cultural opportunities throughout the Town browse the pages of this newspaper and discover the cultural treasures in your own "backyard."

Sincerely yours,

Grants and Arts In Education

2017 Long Island Grants for the Arts

The Huntington Arts Council administers arts grants throughout Nassau and Suffolk counties for the New York State Council on the Arts' Decentralization (DEC) program. This regranting program is available in three categories: the Creative Communities grant for community arts; the Creative Learning grant for arts-in-education projects; and the Creative Individual grant for individual artists.

Interested applicants must attend a HAC free informational grant workshop in order to be eligible. Workshops for the 2018 cycle will be held throughout Nassau and Suffolk counties from early September to early October 2017; locations and times will be posted on www.huntingtonarts.org as they become available. Grant guidelines for 2018 will be similar to those for the 2017 cycle and will be posted on the website in June. This year's application deadline is Friday, Dec 1, 2017.

Congratulations to the 2017 Grants for the Arts Recipients

On March 20th, HAC hosted its annual awards ceremony for recipients of the 2017 Long Island Grants for the Arts awards. The event, held at the Walt Whitman Birthplace Association, was a vibrant occasion that brought together some of the region's most talented and thought-provoking artists.

The awards ceremony showcased the work of a few selected grantees. Kendra Mace Clark introduced her funded project, "Project Pause," which will culminate in a choreographic work that is inspired by moments of stillness that we crave and need amid today's fast-paced rhythms. Visual artist Nichelle Rivers shared two works-in-progress from her exhibition on transgendered lives, based on real individuals whose lives were taken because they were transgender. Lauren Ausubel, flutist and co-director of the Oyster Bay Music Festival, performed Debussy's Syrinx for solo flute after introducing her organization and its mission to provide quality classical music programming on Long Island.

The 2017 grant cycle saw a total of 117 applications, of which 71 were selected to receive funds. The New York State Council on the Arts expands its support of the arts statewide through this decentralized grant program and is committed to supporting projects of artistic excellence and educational merit that reflect the diverse populations and communities on Long Island.

Close-up: Nichelle Rivers, Visual Artist

Contemporary artist Nichelle Rivers is a winner of the Creative Individual grant. Her funded project, the Stolen Lives Project, will be comprised of artwork featuring transgendered lives that were victim to violence. Rivers first came to this project when she noticed the hurtful comments that a family member had posted about the transgender community on Facebook. As an artist and educator, Rivers believes that the best way to contend with hate is to "create works of art that capture the essence of what our society truly should be about—love, tolerance, and understanding." When asked about the purpose and spirit of her exhibition, Rivers, who also holds a doctorate, invokes Martin Luther King's quote on the interrelatedness of society: "What affects one directly, affects all indirectly."

Rivers hopes that her exhibition will raise awareness around transgender deaths and that it will engender reflection and dialogue in the community about an issue that affects some directly, and others indirectly. She realizes, however, that this is still a very sensitive topic and explains that her intention is not to force people to see things her way. Rather, says Rivers, "I just want people to have courageous conversations about the violence that transgender people face."

With a bold capturing of color that seems to define her images, Nichelle Rivers' bright, engaging works are expressionistic and visually intense, and are sure to evoke emotion and empathy. Her exhibition will travel to locations throughout Nassau County from June to November. Information will be posted on nichellerivers.com.

JOURNEY - Cultural Arts Workshops

HAC Workshops Newly State Certified
Huntington Arts Council's Arts in Education, JOURNEY program, was established by Chairperson Sandy Chapin and several area educators in 1985. Every fall the JOURNEY program offers a series of five Cultural Arts Workshops for teacher professional development. The goal is to foster understanding of cultural diversity and traditions through the arts.

These HAC workshops are now fully certified by the New York State Department of Education. As a sponsor for Continuing Teacher and Leader Education (CTLE), teachers attending these workshops will receive a certificate of completion with approved CTLE hours.

Huntington Arts Council's fall 2017 Cultural Arts Workshops for educators will run on the following dates: October 18, 24 and November 1, 8, and 15.

The workshops are always FREE to districts participating in the JOURNEY program through the Huntington Arts Council. Teachers outside the Journey partnership can participate for a small fee.

Discovery Lending Chests

With over 50 loans going out this past year, the Discovery Chests – a component of the JOURNEY program, have enhanced the curriculum by bringing hands on experiences to students, right at their desks. These bins are filled with cultural artifacts, lessons, books, artworks, musical instruments and other tools for teachers to use at their disposal. There are seven cultures represented including Ancient Egypt, Africa, China, India, Latin America, and Native America, with Greece being the newest addition.

For districts participating in the JOURNEY program, chest reservations are always FREE. They are also available for loan for a small fee. Please contact Gina Van Bell, Arts-In-Education for more information (631) 271-8423 ext.14 or artsined@huntingtonarts.org.

Farewell to Visiting Artist Kuniko Yamamoto

Kuniko Yamamoto, a participating JOURNEY artist for over 10 years, has retired this spring from the program. Kuniko's educational programs brought Japanese culture to the Journey schools year after year. She performed traditional dance, storytelling and taught workshops about origami. She captivated her audiences of students and teachers with her talent and skill.

"Working in the JOURNEY program was special because I did it every year for more than 10 years. I feel I grew up with them as a teaching artist. It meant a lot to me to have a support from passionate parents who cared and embraced arts adaptation. And in the trust and encouragement, I was able to learn more about how to adapt storytelling and origami into my school show." said Kuniko.

High Arts Showcase

The High Arts Showcase is a Huntington Arts Council event where student artwork from partner schools in the JOURNEY program are put on exhibit in the gallery for approximately three weeks. This past spring artwork from over 40 students in 11th and 12th grade was submitted and displayed with 12 students being awarded ribbons of excellence.

This year in recognition of National Poetry month two students pictured above, Alli Magnus of Harborfields high school, and Jesse Stickell of Huntington high school, recited poetry.

HAC News

We are happy to announce the addition of two new staff members; Grants Manager Hae Joo Kim and Gina Van Bell Arts in Education Coordinator.

Hae Joo (Grace) Kim comes to HAC with a passion for music and art. She has held a variety of educational positions at Stony Brook University, Wesleyan and Drexel Universities. We first met Hae Joo when she became a volunteer at the Council and quickly became a welcome member of the team. The combination of Hae Joo's cultural and teaching background are a perfect fit for the management and implementation of the Grants program.

Gina Van Bell has a Master of Science in Childhood Education and New York State Certification in Childhood Education. In addition to teaching she most recently worked at The Whaling Museum developing creative learning programs in science, art and culture for children. As Arts in Education Coordinator she has a natural affinity for the program. She is clearly in her element working with the schools and educators as part of our JOURNEY Program.

Jefferson Station, M2D’s music happens at a personal level, blending elements of folk, rock, classical, and funk into an irresistible invitation. Saturday, July 29, 2017 – 12th Huntington Folk Festival (in collaboration with Folk Music Society of Huntington) – Sarah Lee Guthrie plus The Mammals (feat. Mike & Ruthy)

GENERATIONS is the theme for the 12th Huntington Folk Festival, and Sarah Lee Guthrie’s lineage is undeniable (Arlo’s daughter, Woody’s granddaughter). But close your eyes and forget that her last name is synonymous with the widening current of American folk music. Sarah Lee and her husband Johnny Irion have brought their musical fusion of folk, country, pop, blues and rock to listening rooms and performing arts centers across the country and frequently accompany and open for Arlo in concert. Sarah Lee will be flying solo in Huntington (joined at times by The Mammals).

The Mammals (feat. Mike & Ruthy) - In 2016 Hudson Valley based songwriters Mike Merenda and Ruthy Ungar (aka Mike + Ruthy) reintroduced a high-energy folk rock sound that they helped define in the early 2000’s as “Trad is Rad” trailblazers. Mike + Ruthy are “musicians’ musicians” who have found fans and friends in the Americana world and beyond. He’s a songwriting guitar-slinger with a knack for clawhammer banjo. She’s a fiddler and uke-chanteuse who grew up in the American roots underground (the daughter of GRAMMY-winning fiddler and composer Jay Ungar).

Noon to 6:00 PM daytime unplugged song swaps and showcases presented by Folk Music Society of Huntington, and special 8:00 PM “NERFA Presenting Young Folk” details TBA.

Sunday, July 30, 2017 – Folk-Rock Harmonies THE SWEET REMAINS (Rich Price, Greg Naughton and Brian Chartrandis) is an unusual band on today’s music scene, headed by 3-gifted and charismatic singer-songwriters, each of whom contribute to the writing and 3-part harmonies that define the band’s sound. Driven by strong lyrical and melodic writing, their songs easily appeal to fans of modern folk-rockers like Jason Mraz, Ray Lamontagne, and John Mayer. However, it is their lush harmonies that distinguish The Sweet Remains from the throngs of guitar-toting troubadours and harken back to supergroups of the 60’s and 70’s like CSN, the Eagles, and Simon & Garfunkel.

L.I. Spotlight Concerts

In keeping with our efforts to introduce emerging L.I. artists and ensembles of exceptional talent at the summer festival, we are pleased to announce the following L.I. Spotlight concerts at the 2017 HSAF:

Brandee Younger, a native of Long Island, Ms. Younger spent her formative years in Hempstead and Uniondale. A classically trained harpist, she is a fearless and versatile talent who delivers a consistently fresh take on the ancient instrument as an educator, concert curator, performer and leader of the Brandee Younger Jazz Harp Quartet. She opens for Kenny Garrett, a former mentor and teacher, on Coltrane Day - Saturday July 22 during Huntington Jazz Week.

Ms. Younger worked with saxophonist Ravi Coltrane on a series of concerts honoring the music of the late pianist, organist and harpist, Alice Coltrane. The study of Coltrane's music, along with the work of harpist Dorothy Ashby, would ultimately help Ms. Younger develop her own approach to the instrument -- a style that is at once striking and singular in performance.

Known for expressive interpretations of traditional harp repertoire as well as her continued work with a diverse cross-section of musical talents, Ms. Younger is widely recognized as a creative linchpin whose nuanced presence and willingness to push boundaries have made her irreplaceable on record and in performance. The same protean ability has found her sharing stages with jazz leaders and popular hip-hop and r&b titans including Ravi Coltrane, Pharoah Sanders, Jack DeJohnette, John Legend and Lauryn Hill.

Friday, July 28 - Miles to Dayton kicks off an Americana Weekend. Hailing from Port Jefferson, M2D is very much a family centric ensemble – vocalist Krista Preddice shares the microphone with her husband and partner Jonathan Preddice, principal songwriter and multi-instrumentalist (guitar, cello, accordion and trumpet). They are joined by Bassist Dave March (Krista's brother) and dynamic violinists Leanne Strom and Alisa Rabbitt (Jon's sister) who add depth to the vocal harmonies, and drummer Brian Kroll, who propels the music forward.

M2D has built a large grass roots following of fans young and old. They've headlined performances at the Patchogue Theater and sold out the Boulton Center, with notable gigs at the Paramount Theatre, Great South Bay Music Festival and the NoFo Rock and Folk Festival. They've been the featured artist at the Acoustic Long Island Podcast and Summer Concert, emerging artist at the Falcon Ridge Folk Festival. Equally at home in the acoustic or full band setup, M2D has shared the stage with the likes of The Infamous Stringdusters, Rhett Miller, The Subdudes, Jorma Kaukonen, The Dirt Farmer Band, Tom Paxton, Southside Johnny and the Asbury Jukes, and Richie Havens, to name a few.

Wednesday, August 2 - The Long Island Jazz Orchestra specializes in performing the original distinctive arrangements of the big band and swing orchestras of the 40s to present, along with original contemporary arrangements and premier compositions. Each musician is a conservatory trained music specialist that has a deep and sincere love for the art of jazz. All are experienced professional musicians who love to play jazz for their own satisfaction and ultimately for the audience to enjoy. The band's repertoire features original compositions and arrangements of Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Glenn Miller, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Stan Kenton, Maynard Ferguson, Benny Goodman and others. Band Director Mike Ficco is best known for his work as a jazz saxophonist, ensemble clinician, NYSSMA jazz adjudicator/All County Jazz Ensemble Director, and recording musician. Throughout the years, Mike Ficco has arranged and composed various types of music for local performing groups, nationally known artists and major music publishers.

Friday, August 11 - Nonstop to Cairo, emerging as one of New York's staple bands, believes in truly striving for something new. The band has their own unique blend of Ska and Hip-hop that they bring to a dedicated fan base up and down the East Coast. Based in Baldwin, band mates Nick Diamond (guitar, vocals), August Harris (vocals), Andrew Joseph (tenor saxophone), Alex Turner (drums) and Matt Ezzo (bass) all hail from L.I.'s South Shore.

The band has performed alongside amazing national acts including The Wailers, Dirty Heads, WAR, Ballyhoo, Galactic, The Expendables, Matisyahu, and many others. In between tours, they can be found performing locally in NYC and Long Island at The Paramount, The Space, The Gramercy Theatre, The Knitting Factory, and The Bitter End.

They've just completed their debut album, Dabble Heavy; after a two year process of refining their sound to capture the full essence of who they are as a band and the message they want to convey. Legendary My Father's Place-proprietor Michael 'Eppy' Epstein, who consults the band on management, says, "Their energy is terrifically addictive; and, the five are all on the same page. There's so much that goes into success and they are well ahead of the pack already."

12th Huntington Folk Festival - Generations Highpoint of Americana Weekend!

Sarah Lee Guthrie and The Mammals

Sarah Lee Guthrie and The Mammals (feat. Mike & Ruthy) will co-headline the 12th Annual Huntington Folk Festival on Saturday evening, July 29 at Heckscher Park. Extending from noon until 10:30 p.m., the free festival – co-presented by the Folk Music Society of Huntington (FMSH) and the Huntington Arts Council – is part of the 52nd Huntington Summer Arts Festival. The theme for the evening concert is "Generations" and will include a special 8:00 PM Opening Act with "NERFA Presenting Young Folk."

Prior to the featured evening concert, AcousticMusicScene.com and FMSH will host unplugged showcases and song swaps on the upper lawn area overlooking the stage, featuring artists from New York and several other states from 12 noon-6 p.m. Daytime schedules will be posted online at www.AcousticMusicScene.com, www.FMSH.org and www.HuntingtonArts.org.

undeniable. But if you close your eyes and forget that her last name is synonymous with the river-legacy of a widening current of American folk music, you'd still be drawn to the clarity and soul behind her voice. There is a gentle urgency to her interpretations of the songs she sings and the classic music of her heritage. It flows from the continuity of her family, her vital artistic life today and the river of songs that have guided her to where she now stands. Over the last two decades on the road and in the studio, she and her husband Johnny Irion have created a signature pop-fused folk-rock sound that is appealing and engaging on series of critically-acclaimed albums Exploration, Folksong, Bright Examples and Wassiac Way. On 2009's Go Waggaloo, she created a family album of original songs (and a few with Woody's lyrics) that won a Golden Medallion from The Parents' Choice Foundation. Sarah Lee Guthrie now ventures on a road that leads back to the rich culture of her family running through the warmth of her own bloodlines. This is rare opportunity to witness the growth of one of America's finest young folk singers.

Mike + Ruthy, touring American folk act and founders of The Mammals are bringing back the band name that energized crowds in the 00's and gave them their start. "We've always been Mammals at heart," laughs Ruth Ungar, the band's soulful singer and fiddler. "The music we're making has the same old-time and Americana roots, and our lyrics have gotten more political again." Back in 2001, The Mammals originated as a partnership between Ungar (daughter of Jay Ungar – GRAMMY winner for "Ashokan" theme for Ken Burn's Civil War), Merenda and Tao Rodriguez-Seeger (Pete's grandson) and later grew to include other players. The 2017 lineup includes some former Mammal members including Jacob Silver and Ken Maiuri when they are not touring with Lee Fields and the B-52's respectively. "It's a blessing to have a connection to the past and such great new players too," says Mike. "The alchemy of fiddle, banjo, guitar, bass and drums is magic... and when keys, pedal steel, and horns are in the mix we leap to the next level."

Saturday's Folk Festival is bracketed by Americana-inspired concerts featuring two very different but enormously talented ensembles. Friday, July 28, the L.I. Spotlight is on Miles to Dayton, local indie folk/rock & crossover band from Pt. Jefferson. (See L.I. Spotlight Concerts story on page 15 for additional bio information.) The Sweet Remains winds up this memorable weekend on Sunday, July 30, with superb harmonies reminiscent of 60's & 70's super groups CSN, The Eagles and Simon & Garfunkel. An unusual band on today's music scene, headed by 3-gifted and charismatic singer-songwriters each of whom contribute to the writing and 3-part harmonies that define the band's sound. Driven by strong lyrical and melodic writing, their songs easily appeal to fans of modern folk-rockers.

Rich Price, Greg Naughton and Brian Chartrandis met for a chance jam-session in a Rhode Island hotel room in 2008, and the three instantly recognized a musical blend and kinship that would eventually overcome geography to form The Sweet Remains. The three began writing and recording together during breaks in each of their solo touring. They played the tracks for producer Andy Zulla who immediately joined the project, and the band's debut CD "Laurel & Sunset" was released several months later. The band has been winning the praise of audiences and critics across the U.S. ever since. (USA TODAY selected it as "pick-of-the-week"; BOSTON HERALD said "It's been a long time since 3-part harmonies this lush were yoked to songs this melodically gorgeous")
