

MAXINE JUROW

Maxine Jurow, an intuitive painter, holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts and a Masters Degree in Painting and Education, both from Long Island University's CW Post Campus. Her professional life has included teaching art followed by twenty years as the Executive Director of Literacy Suffolk.

Working primarily with acrylic paint on a variety of surfaces, canvas, wood panel, and mylar, Maxine's work is yielding unique results and a different tactile experience. She has been inspired by travel to Australia, the Caribbean, Morocco, the Southwest, and her home of Long Island. Memories of these places are the inspiration for her abstract landscapes and are, in a sense, a meditation that she continually returns to.

Maxine was recognized by Long Island Pulse Magazine with inclusion in the 2009 Annual Artist VIP List. She has shown extensively in the tri-state area with numerous solo exhibitions and group shows.
